Description :

Prsentation de l'diteurElizabeth Haynes' second novel is a taut and gripping murder mystery introducing a compelling new heroine, Genevieve - office worker by day and pole dancer by night - who finds herself implicated in a mob underworld of murder, corruption and betrayal. Genevieve has finally escaped the stressful demands of her sales job and achieved her dream: to leave London behind and start a new life aboard a houseboat in Kent. But on the night of her boat-warming party the dream is shattered when a body washes up beside the boat, and Genevieve recognises the victim. As the sanctuary of the boatyard is threatened, and Genevieve's life seems increasingly at risk, the story of how she came to be so out of her depth is unfolded, and Genevieve finds out the real cost of mixing business with pleasure...Revue de Unputdownable, this thriller with a heart of gold reads like a breath of fresh air. (Red Online) Clearly shows her initial success was no accident. The rich bloodline of women crime writers has a new generation fast emerging and the pulse is beating strongly. (David Connott, Sunday Express (London)) An intense psychological thriller. A convincing portrayal of a woman whose both naive and self-confident elevates the solid plot, which alternates between the present and the past (Publishers Weekly) Chilling. Compelling. (Associated Press) This dark, sexy, heart-pounding thriller is a chilling and highly satisfying follow-up to Haynes' acclaimed debut, Into the Darkest Corner. Genevieve is a smart, likable, well-drawn character. This is a must read for mystery/thriller fans.
